

HANDS OFF OUR PENSIONS!

Cameron's government have gone back on their promise in the Coalition Agreement, and are delaying the state pension for thousands of women who are in their 50s at the moment. It will mean that when they come to retire in their 60s, thousands will have to work for up to two years longer.

Almost 5 million people will be affected by the Tory-led government's new plans; in particular 500,000 women will now have to work for a year or longer, 33,000 will have to work for two years longer before they can claim their state pension.

Sign our petition now. Send this Tory-led government a message that this broken promise is unacceptable - hands off our pensions!
